TESLA

Tesla cars are super cool because it's as if somebody has brought them to 2017 from the future. My personal favourite Tesla is the Tesla Model S P100D because it can get from 0-60mph in 2.5 seconds, which is quicker than an Audi R8 by 1.1 seconds and a Lamborghini Aventador by 0.4 seconds. Also I really love the interior of the Tesla model S because of the extra comfy seats and the screen size in the front which is huge and is manufactured by Apple's iPhone 6 and 6S supplier which means it has great touchscreen for when you're driving around quickly and need to do something at the same time. Speaking of iPhones, did you know that you can download the Tesla Mobile app? This lets you control loads of things like reversing the car back slowly if you're in a car park and the spaces are so small that you can't open your doors. Also if somebody broke into your Tesla, the alarm would go off and you could stop it from driving by using your phone.

Here is an image of the interior on the Tesla model S.

Tesla also have two other S models but they aren't as quick and the battery capacity isn't as big.

All of the models have the option to let the car take over the steering or pedals or even both, but you need to be on roads where there are white lines and you should always look in front at least every two minutes because the technology hasn't been around for very long. However, it will keep learning from people driving on different roads.

Also did you know you can unlock your tesla from your apple watch!

Chocolate chip cookies

Directions

Evenly position 2 racks in the middle of the oven and preheat to 375 degrees F. (on convection setting if you have it.) Line 2 baking sheets with parchment paper or silicone sheets. (If you only have 1 baking sheet, let it cool completely between batches.)

Put the butter in a microwave safe bowl, cover and microwave on medium power until melted. (Alternatively melt in a small saucepan.) Cool slightly. Whisk the sugars, eggs, butter and vanilla in a large bowl until smooth.

Whisk the flour, baking soda and salt in another bowl. Stir the dry ingredients into the wet ingredients with a wooden spoon; take care not to over mix. Stir in the chocolate chips or chunks.

Scoop heaping tablespoons of the dough onto the prepared pans. Wet hands slightly and roll the dough into balls. Space the cookies about 2-inches apart on the pans. Bake, until golden, but still soft in the center, 12 to 16 minutes, depending on how chewy or crunchy you like your cookies. Transfer hot cookies with a spatula to a rack to cool. Serve.

Store cookies in a tightly sealed container for up to 5 days.

For a Rocky Road Bar:

Lightly butter a 9 by 13-inch baking pan. Make the batter as per cookie recipe and fold in 1 cup chopped walnuts along with the chocolate chips. Spread batter in prepared pan. Bake until the edges are light brown and the batter sets, about 45 minutes. Cool slightly and cover surface with 4 cups marshmallows and 1 cup chocolate chips. Broil at least 8 inches from the heat until marshmallows turn golden brown, about 2 minutes. (Keep an eye on the marshmallows, and turn the pan frequently--they go from golden to char in a wink.) Cool, cut and serve.

Mary Rose sinks tragically without taking a single hit

The Mary Rose tragically sunk yesterday without taking a single hit. The whole of Portsmouth was surprised to see the Mary Rose sink just after its refurbishment. It was sunk in a way no one would have thought, as Henry watched from the shore, during the Battle of the Solent, a clash between the English fleet and French invasion force. A French ship appeared to one side of the boat. The gun ports were opened as the heavy cannons were rolled out for fire. Many soldiers gathered at the side of the boat. This meant that The boat slowly tipped letting water onto the open deck, they tried to maneuver themselves and their cannons but it was too late, the Mary Rose capsized leaving just a handful of survivors left alive. Yet accounts from the time only list between 30-40 survivors.
